FOREWORD

Industry! Hosiery! Textiles!

These three words explain the rapid growth of Burlington, North Carolina. In 1855 the North Carolina Railway formed the little village of Company Shops. The name was later changed to Burlington, and mills were built. Burlington then grew rapidly into an outstanding industrial city, and the hosiery center of the South.

DEDICATION

TO MR. JOHN O. REYNOLDS

for his leadership, service and loyalty; for his personal sacrifices that B. H. S. might be a happier place in which to work; for his sympathetic understanding of our many shortcomings; for his friendly appreciation of our virtues; for his abiding confidence that each of us will play the game of life faithfully, we, the class of 1937, do, as a token of our esteem, dedicate this Doe-Wah-Jack.

YOU TELL ONE

Mr. Oliver: Billy, will you please get that grip out of the aisle?
 Billy Copeland: That's no grip. It's my foot!

Mildred Howell: Merrimon, how do they make those soda straws they use in drug stores?
 Merrimon Cheek: Oh, they just wrap a piece of paper around a hole about eight inches long.

Rebekah Lighthourne: Whiskey is man's greatest enemy.
 J. B. Williams: Well, your father preaches that you should love thine enemies.

Jo Baker: And didn't your conscience tell you it was wrong?
 Elaine Mitchell: Yes, but I don't believe in listening to everything I hear.

Billy Ireland: Are you ever fired with enthusiasm?
 Jo Wood: Yes, from every job I tackle.

Mr. Reynolds: Paul, name America's greatest general.
 Paul Fogleman: General Motors.

Miss Barber: A scientist says that the earth weighs more in the winter. Why?
 Jimmy Cross: Think of all the people with heavy coats.

Braxton Weaver: Robert Bryan said he paid $1,000 for that car of his. He must be a millionaire.
 Felix Bell: No, he's a liar.

Vera Allison: Who is that man running up and down the smoker with his mouth open?
 John Robertson: That's a Scotchman getting a free smoke.

Manley Meachem: Do you mean that Joe Wood is lazy?
 Mark Cook: I sure do. He's so lazy he'd rather listen to a bedtime story than turn the dial.

Mr. Reynolds: Can you prove that the square on the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle is equal to the sum of the square on the other two sides?
 Millicent Moore: I don't have to prove it; I admit it.

Mr. Leonard: It's a burning shame.
 Ed Ketner: What's a burning shame?
 Mr. Leonard: That cigarette you're holding behind your back.

Mrs. Hunter: Robert, what is a partitive?
 Robert Bryan: Don't you know that?

Mr. Oliver: How do they get peanut butter, bright girl?
 Mary Fowler: Simple enough; feed the cows peanuts.

Miss Lewis: Robert, use "efficiens" in a sentence.
 Robert Whitmore: When Mary and John fell in the lake, John yelled, "Oh, fish us out!"

Virginia Fowler: He says he thinks I am the nicest girl in town. Shall I give him a date?
 Mary Fowler: No, let him keep on thinking so.

Dexter Collins: Oh, Spud. I was elected president.
 Spud: Honestly!
 Dexter: What difference does that make?

Hope Patterson: A penny for your thoughts.
 Bob Gammon: You'd be cheated. I was thinking of you.

Mr. Reynolds: When I was a boy I thought nothing of a ten-mile walk.
 Billy Copeland: Well, I don't think so much of it myself.

Granville Sharpe: When I go to heaven I'm going to ask Shakespeare if he wrote all his plays.
 Howard White: He may not be there.
 Granville: Then you can ask him!

Jack Eulis: I wish I had lived three hundred years ago.
 Royal Spence: Why?
 Jack: I shouldn't have had so much history to learn.

Mr. Oliver: Nell, are the skins of cats of any value?
 Nell Tingen: Yes, sir. They keep the cats warm.

Kathryn Evans: Aren't sheep stupid?
 Millicent Moore: Yes, my lamb.

Leota Howell: Who is the laziest man in the world?
 John Walker: The fellow that eats in the dining car on a train because it stirs his coffee.

Bessie Williams: How dare you swear before me?
 Billy Stokes: Pardon me. I didn't know you wanted to swear.

Nancy Walker: Where did you get that horrible necktie?
 Jack Faucette: The laugh's on you this time. You gave it to me for Christmas.

Pearl Waymick: Ruth Lee said she dreamed that she was dancing with you.
 D. B. Bass: Yes?
 Pearl: She awoke and her little brother was pounding her feet with a hammer.

Mildred Howell: Why are there so many divorces?
 Sara Walker: There are so many people getting married now.

OUR PAST

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is station B.H.S. presenting the last of a series of broadcasts sponsored by the class of '37. We are presenting a review of the last four years of this outstanding class. Time marches backwards.

It is September 1933; 230 timid looking boys and girls are awkwardly standing around on the campus of Broad Street School. They are eagerly awaiting the bell which will mean the beginning of their careers as high school students. After entering the building a frantic search for classrooms ensues, hampered by the ogling and jeering of Sophomores. They finally get acquainted with their teachers and classrooms and settle down to work. They struggle through all the trials of their Freshman year under the leadership of Dan Jackson. They see the birth of Student Government, and they aid in organizing it. Off to a good start on their careers these now faded green Freshmen await the next year.

Attention, radio listeners. Try Waxwell House Coffee, good to the last dunk.

September 1934; 177 students have survived the first year and return to go back to work. After giving the Freshmen the customary "razzberry" they settle to work with slightly swelled heads. The class is divided into two groups. There are sixty Sophomores in the ninth grade at Hillcrest. They choose for their leader Holt Barnwell, while Ruth Moore is elected president of those at Broad Street. This year they really take part in current school activities. Many join clubs, Barker Staff, Student Council, and various other organizations.

Don't cough your head off! Use Mentho-Convulsion.

September 1935; once again this class is united with 172 boys and girls ready to go back to work. Organizing quickly, they choose Charles Stewart for their president. They select a beautiful class ring and carry out the traditional Junior-Senior banquet successfully. Many boys win monograms for their efforts on the athletic field.

Special announcement, ladies and gentlemen! The Daft Cheese Company is now featuring their new product, perfumed limburger.

September 1936; the class of '37 is united for its last year. With Edgar Dameron at the head of this class of 125 dignified Seniors, the year is begun. Out of the Seniors comes the President of the Student Body, Editor of the DOE-WAH-JACK, Editor of The Barker, and many other honored positions. This class, as the head of the school, takes the lead in athletics and all other activities. With all eyes fixed on Commencement they eagerly look forward to their highest achievement—the receiving of the coveted sheepskin.

This, ladies and gentlemen, concludes our program. This is good old station B.H.S. signing off. Thanks for listening.

BILLY STOKES, '37.

OUR FUTURE

Oh my, how time does fly! I can still remember the dear 'ole days at B.H.S. when we were all Seniors. Today is just the day for memories, because it is snowing. As I look from my studio, where I teach dancing, on Fifth Avenue in New York, I see, coming up to my apartment, my oldest and dearest friend, Elizabeth Cobb.

When she comes in, we begin to talk about our former classmates of '37. She says that she is in New York for a few days attending a doctor's meeting. (They tell me she is the favorite M.D. among patients at Duke.)

She says that she has been to a recent stage hit, in which Rebecca Lightbourne is a sensation, singing her grand opera songs.

Helen Boone has taken Ramona's place, playing the piano for Guy Lombardo.

June Carol Coble is directing a big church choir in Philadelphia, and Ada B. Love plays the organ and assists in directing.

Felix Bell, I hear, has suddenly become rich from the money and cigarettes he has won from sweepstakes and hit parades.

Mr. Garret has turned over his job as soccer instructor to George Hardie, who is handling the job nicely.

While listening to the radio, I heard two popular vocalists of the season, R. S. Troxler and Gene Gladden. (Local boys make good.)

Changing the subject to politics, I read in the paper that two of our former '37 classmates are candidates for the election of presidency of the United States. They are Edgar Dameron and Robert Bryan. Here's luck to you both!

The first application received for private secretary to the President was that of Margaret Wade. Margaret's going in for this business in a big way. Here's wishing you lots of luck.

While attending a dance conference at Philadelphia, I saw Braxton Weaver, who is director of all stage productions, and he told me that Virgil Hodgins is still having his laughs and gags, but they are in a different way now, because incidentally that's how he is earning his living; when he gives out of wise cracks, he notifies his business manager, Calviu Walker, and the fun starts all over again.

Nellie Sue Bureb, Mable Wilson and Ruby Nance are also kicking up their heels in the show business. You understand what I mean—they are chorus girls.

When I received a letter the other day it was from Dr. Robbins at Johns Hopkins Hospital. You remember Elise. She's a surgical doctor.

Francis Bass is also a surgical doctor there.

Rachel Moss is head nurse and assistant in the operating room in this same hospital.

Ellen Brammer, Helen Hughes, Catherine Jones, Edna Mansfield, Jessie and Essie Leach are also being kind to humanity—they are nurses. The horrors of being ill will be lessened by having these cheerful faces to look at.

Blanche Somers is busy at the hospital in Washington where she is head of the dietetics department.

On my last trip home, I traveled by plane, and my pilot was none other than Burrus Underwood. He told me some news about several of our classmates.

Quentin Surratt is married and is living peacefully on his farm in the country.

Jack Glosson is a contractor in Hollywood. He recently built a home for Lurline Ross, famous movie actress. For her stand-in, she has Rebecca Steele, but not for long, because Rebecca is rapidly climbing to stardom herself.

Speaking of stars, Robert Taylor's fan mail has been decreasing and all because Douglas Aven signed a five-year contract with M.G.M. Movie Producer Martin Mitchell predicts a bright future for him.

Kathleen Barber and Mable Vanderford are designers in Hollywood. They create new fashions for the stars.

Victor King is doing well for himself here in New York. He directs and is vocalist for his orchestra. For feature attraction he has lovely Francis Bennett, blues singer, to appear on his programs.

On a billboard down town I noticed that one of the greatest plays of the season is being directed and published by a Miss Allison. I investigated and found it to be our own Vera Dale. She told me she is teaching dramatics and writing plays on the side.

There is a nifty magazine that has just been published and the editor is none other than Howard White.

From this magazine I learned that Merle Smith has invented a non-breakable glass, so that when doors are slammed they will not break. Vestal Johnson is married and living happily at his home in Glen Raven.

Jimmy May, after years of hard work has received the honor of being manager of May's Hosiery Mill.

Manley Meacham is Burlington's best dentist, since his father's retirement.

With Marguerite Nicholson as his capable nurse, he is doing quite a business.

Marion Goodes is society editor for a big newspaper in Baltimore.

Ruth Moore is modeling clothes in a fashion shop in New York City.

Edwin Hanford is a champion boxer, and his business manager, George Hickey, sees that Edwin is kept in good shape.

Mark Cook and Dan Garrison are joint owners of a chain of grocery stores located in different parts of North Carolina.

While eating lunch one day, I ran across Russell Hornaday. He's a big manufacturer, and is making plenty of money.

Dorothy Cole is his private secretary.

Carleen Capes whose talent was drawing is now a famous artist in Europe.

Speaking of famous people, Josephine Baker has recently been given the title of the world's greatest tap dancer.

Elaine Mitchell is married and is now living in Graham, but is getting ready to move to Winston-Salem, where her husband is opening a new drug store.

I often read in the society columns accounts of the doings of Iona Griswald, Sara Walker and Mildred Howell, America's social leaders.

Garland Wingfield is now editor of the Daily Times News, and his assistant is Joe Wood.

Marie Mangum, after gaining the title "Miss North Carolina," has quit the beauty contest and settled down to happy married life.

Laura Long is the wife of a policeman and is living in Burlington, and Annie Strader has also taken that certain, final jump into matrimony.

Three of our so-called "men about town," Gordon Malone, Merriman Cheek and George Koury, are still playing the part of ladies' men, and doing it quite successfully.

I received a card announcing the opening of Petie Neese's new night club. Hubert McLendon is his master of ceremonies.

Glen Pickard, who recently got married, is manager of the United Dollar Store.

On my vacation last summer I met Marguerite Liles, Mary Hiatt and Louis Hicks, who are fiction and novel writers.

They told me that Vernell Moran is private secretary to Professor Howard Patterson, the successor of Einstein, and that James Montgomery is practicing broad-jumping for the Olympics, with Forest Griffin as radio announcer for this big event.

Porter Lea, I'm told, is Burlington's leading physician.

Hans Kauber is editor of a newly established newspaper in Burlington.

Billy Ireland and his Rhythm Boys are in popular demand, so I'm told.

Yvonne Koury has become internationally famous by taking over Rubinoff's place in the violin world.

Dolores Nicholson is a French instructor at State College.

Pauline Compton is bookkeeper for McLellen's five- and ten-cent store.

The only woman dentist in Burlington is Hazel Andrews. Her specialty is cleaning teeth to make them look like real ones.

Agnes Campbell is a beauty operator in Hollywood, where she creates new coiffures for the stars. Mable Andrews is her capable assistant.

Josephine Blanchard is married happily to the manager of McLellen's store.

Nell Riley, magazine model, is in Hollywood taking a screen test, where she will no doubt become a star.

Mary Neel Pennington is Burlington's most capable nurse since her graduation from Duke.

Vivian Neal and Garnett Parker are two brilliant newspaper women, who are seen frequently snooping around for news.

Bessie Terrell is operating a little fashion shop here in New York, where she sells the latest styles. Adeline Storey is her chief saleslady (Adeline always did like to work in stores.)

Leota Howell is a famous woman political speaker rivaling Mabel Jenning.

F. D. Hall is in the money, so I'm told. He is a banker back in Burlington.

Granville Sharpe is married, and living on a farm, where he raises St. Bernard dogs for a past time.

Any day Vera Self can be seen assisting in driving a red truck for her husband of the General Food Store; Agnes Turner is operator of the Taxi business on the road from Elon to Gibsonville.

The papers say that Robert Ford is a frivolous millionaire playboy here in New York.

Paul Fogleman and Manley McKinney are two wealthy philanthropists.

Lola Ray Thomas is in popular demand over the radio, where she is singing weekly.

Bessie Williams is the private secretary to Mr. Woodworth of the dime store millions.

Winifred Vaughn is owner of the Vaughn Service Station, located in Burlington.

Edna Mae Whitl and Edna Kivett are famous beauty and style advocates.

Billy Stokes is a professor at Harvard University, and Billy Walker is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Burlington and has for his assistant Sidney Belle Wagoner.

B. H. S. has a new football coach—it's none other than John Robertson.

Harry Alexander, Elmer Baulding, Scott Hunter, Kenneth Chapman, Norman Yates and Robert Whittenmore are all prosperous and wealthy business men.

Oh my! Time has been flying, and as I sit here recalling these happy memories, I'm almost late for work. But I do hope that each Senior has obtained his or her highest ambition in life.

ALEXIS COLEMAN, Prophetess.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

NORTH CAROLINA
ALAMANCE COUNTY
Burlington

WE, the Senior Class of '37, of the above-said state and county, being of as sound minds as you would expect after four years of hard work, and realizing that an end must come to all worthwhile things, do hereby make and ordain this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To Mr. L. E. Spikes, our beloved Superintendent, we will that certain tract of land in Brookwood Extension on which to build that new modernistic school!

ARTICLE II

To Mr. E. C. Leonard, we will the incoming Senior Class and hope that they will cooperate with him as we have tried so hard to do. We also leave him our melodious voices (in the hall) to keep him company next year in our absence.

ARTICLE III

To the faculty, we will our high scholarships to be used to inspire the lower classmen to work hard and maintain the requirements expected of them. This being our last will, we wouldn't forget our "wads" of chewing gum which we know the faculty would like to have as a remembrance of a "swell Senior Class."

ARTICLE IV

To the incoming Seniors, we will our places in chapel, our places in the lunch line, and all other "Senior privileges" that we (don't) have, but which they would like to have.

ARTICLE V

To the incoming Freshmen, we will all the good luck that we have had throughout our High School Career!

ARTICLE VI

To the Student Body, we will the school as a whole, and hope that they will strive to make it a standardized school.

ARTICLE VII

Certain individuals do bequeath as follows:

Edgar Dameron, his oratorical ability to Dexter Collins.
Hazel Andrews, her formula for reducing to Frances Cheek.
Edna Whitt, her daintiness to Marie Mann.
Adeline Storey, her quiet ways to Annie Ruth Sneed.
Ada B. Love, her love for books to Nancy Moore.
Billy Walker, his mathematical knowledge to Buck Haynes.
Pauline Blanchard, her babyish ways to Inez Malone.
Lurline Ross, her happy-go-lucky way to Joyce Black.
Elizabeth Cobb, her petite figure to Mary Fowler.
Felix Bell, his cute way of reciting "Le Corbeau et Le Renard" to John Walker.
Helen Boone, her musical ability to Cathera Garner, hoping that she will make the best of it.
Josephine Blanchard, her seriousness to Edna Mae Bell.
Howard White, his business-like ways to Elwood Pearce, hoping that he will use this legacy to a good advantage.
Elaine Mitchell, her abundant supply of gum and confections to Millicent Moore.
Braxton Weaver, his "Stephin Fetchit" drawl to Gorrell Askew.
Granville Sharpe, his ability to make "girlish hearts" flutter to Ira Crenshaw.
Petie Neece, his football jersey to Royal Spence.
Jimmy May, a roll of adhesive to Tommy Heritage to patch the hearts he has broken.
R. S. Froxler, his prize-winning voice to Jack Euliss.
Vera Dale Allison, her cute expressions, which have passed down from the classes of '35 and '36, to Gladys Gammon, who in turn will pass them on.
Mildred Howell and Sara Walker, their continuous talking and giggling to Kathryn Evans and Nancy Walker.
Rebekah Lightbourne, her "flirting" to Virginia Fowler.
Ruth Moore, her seat in the "Jeep" to Nell Tingen.
Biny Stokes, his French ability to Mack Leath, knowing it will be well cared for.
"Jo" Baker, her position as cheer leader to Margaret Anthony.
Marion Goodes, her "peppy" ways to Billie Brown.
George Koury, his "Benny Goodman" clarinet to George Boring, requesting that it be passed on from year to year.
Yvonne Koury, that "brunette beauty" to Sara Frances Trollinger.
Dan Garrison, his boxing ability to Clancy Way.
George Hickey, those "dancing feet" to Ed Ketner.
"Billie" Coleman, her "witty" ways to Hope Patterson.
Gordon Malone, his good standing among all the teachers to Billy Copeland.
Robert Bryan, his position as "President of the Student Body" to Jack Faucette.

ARTICLE VIII

In testimony whereof we do appoint Mr. E. C. Leonard as sole executor of this, our last will and testament, with instructions that he carry out faithfully all of its terms.

MARIE MANGUM, Testator.

WITNESS:

E. C. LEONARD,
Mrs. J. A. HUNTER,
Miss LENA LEWIS.

CLASS POEM AND SONG

Class Colors: BLUE AND GOLD

Class Flower: VIOLET

Class Motto: "HITCH YOUR WAGON TO A STAR"

SONG

To tune of "The Bells of St. Mary's"

The torch of high courage
You've placed in our hands
Will light up our pathway
O'er life's shifting sands.
To you, '37, and dear high school, too,
We pledge our fealty
Forever to you.

Chorus

Our Banner, dear classmates,
Ah! See it is gleaming—
A message of courage
To lead us afar.
It's blue up above us,
It's sunshine about us,
We carry it bravely and follow
Our guiding star.

The ideals, dear high school,
We gathered from thee;
The lessons you taught us
Remembered shall be,
With youth for our armor
And courage our shield,
We'll fight all life's battles
Refusing to yield.

Chorus again

MILDRED HOWELL.

POEM

As the end of our high school's days draws near,
And we're leaving the place we hold dear,
A pang of sorrow fills our hearts
For, in deed, 'tis sad that we must part.
Even if never again we meet together
Those cherished memories will linger forever.

On starting out in '33
A care-free but willing group were we,
We did our best through four long years
Mingling joys and sorrows, hopes and fears
Sometimes it was hard but we didn't care;
B.H.S. took loyalty and work for fare.

When Freshmen—as the custom has always been,
We received the sneers of our upperclassmen;
But when "Sensible Sophomores" we became,
We made the most of our chance to do the same,
Then "Jolly Juniors"—a banquet—a ring—
Always impatient for what the future would bring.

Now we are Seniors—our journey's most done;
We're grateful for those whose friendship we've won
Thank you, B.H.S., and our teachers for aid—
We're grateful, indeed, for the progress we've made.
You staid our fears, made our hardship less,
Good luck to you! We're on the road to Success!

LEOTA HOWELL.

BOOK II

ACTIVITIES

MEANDERING MUSES

Eight-thirty and a mad scramble from Lewis' Store to classrooms. . . . Wonder when someone will invent a sleepless powder to keep us awake on class. . . . 9:35 a wild rush for the door . . . Mr. Oliver standing "jest" outside his door befriending every "helpless" soul. . . . Patricia is still stuttering. . . . Nancy Walker always has an opinion which on all occasions is most decidedly expressed. . . . 10:35 and the mid-morning lunch. . . . Some of these students certainly do look industrious. . . . 11:35 Physics and "Chapman" as usual is removing his feet from his desk as he is "not in a barn." . . . The Home Ec "gals" are doing just "sew." . . . 12:35 and lunch. . . . Take care, ye weaklings, lest ye be trampled under the feet of the starving horde. . . . A sentinel in the person of a faculty member takes post at the end of the school grounds. . . . 1:10 the Return of the Prodigal Sons . . . and Daughters. . . . The usual historical remarks on Miss Lewis' history class by the masterstatesmen (to be). . . . Bob Ford comes forward in Sociology to maintain quiet and order. . . . 2:05 class over and the few remaining students (those who have neither skipped school nor left to go to work) straggle to fifth period class. . . . Felix Bell recites to himself, aloud, "Le Corbeau et Le Renard." . . . 3:10 and "school is dismissed, pupils." . . . A few have that shifty look in their eyes and are laboriously trying to avoid the after-school class in order to make it to Shaw's Grill . . . and . . .

CAMPUS CAPERS

Don't know who to write about,
Don't know what to say,
Seems as if this old brain
Ain't working right today.

Mrs. Hunter delights in teaching us French and Spanish verbs
And all interest in life among her students thus curbs;
Past, present, and future—the conditional as well,
These soon will drive us to—a padded cell.
'Cording to our "party line"
The Debonair Club is having a time.

Mary Fowler and Nell Tingen—
They just rave on like a steam engine.
They're nuisances both, and yet, oh, well—
When it's time to cheer, those girls can yell!
We're told, o'er class problems Vera spends many a sleepless night
And her laboring thoughts have early turned her hair white.

They don't study much,
These dumb B.H.S. girls.
But they do spend lots of time
Fixing up their curls.

In Home Economics
Their progress is very slow
But when it comes to dancing
You ought to see them go.

They can waltz and tap.
They can truck and shag.
But when it comes to washing dishes
You ought to see them lag.

Now Helen Boone takes the banner
For banging away on the pianner.

Once there was a history student, Billy Stokes was his name.
On Miss Lewis' history class, he soon rose to heights of fame.

At home the girls are always tired
And seem so pushed for time.
But when a boy comes to the door
They're ready every time.

Don't know how I've done it
Hope that it's okay.
Paper was rough, ink was poor,
So I'll be on my way.

ATHLETIC RESUME

The 1936 football season was ushered in with a new coach, James E. Peters. Coach Peters played quarterback for Wake Forest College and was graduated in 1933. He came to Burlington from Williamston where he had made an enviable record for three years. The Bulldogs offered only a few experienced men to Coach Peters, but before the season ended a good team had been built. Attendance was poor at the home games due to rain, and the citizens of Burlington made up a $400 donation to pay for the new equipment. The 1937 edition of the football team will see about fifteen letter men to meet the heavy schedule.

The 1936 baseball team won the state championship from Edenton at Chapel Hill on May 14. The 1937 team will have nine lettermen and a host of reserves and new men. They will feel the loss of Kendall Moran, Buruan Bare and Adolphus Sorrell who graduated. Moran has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Athletics of the American League. The highlight of the 1936 season was the defeat of "Lefty" Wilson and Coach Earl Holt's Oake Ridge nine. The 1937 schedule will be begun with a challenge, as the Bulldogs have dropped only six games of the last forty-five played.

The Bulldogs are in the midst of a good basketball and boxing season.

Tennis will be played in the spring, along with the addition of golf.

Coach Garrett's soccer team won the Alamance County championship in 1936, but lost to Jamestown in the play for the state championship.

The Student Body has become infested with the "good old B.H.S. spirit" and is giving fine support to the athletic teams.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL 1936

Junior football was initiated this year under the direction of Coach Oliver. Three games were played and although the boys lost them, the nucleus for a good squad was formed.

A larger number of boys is expected out for spring football practice. It is planned to have a more extensive schedule in 1937.

The forming of this Junior squad will interest more boys in coming out for football. Burlington should have outstanding teams every year in football.

The Student Parent-Teacher Association which was organized by the parents and students in the spring of 1935 had as its main objectives: putting music back in the schools, an enriched social life for high school students and a closer cooperation and better understanding between high school students, parents and teachers.

One of the big events of '36-'37 was November 20 when the S. P. T. A., the student council, the high school faculty, and high school students worked for, planned and held its first Social Standards Conference. Each high school in the county sent student representatives; some also came from Greensboro. Prominent men and women of North Carolina and Burlington during the day spoke on the topic, "How to Get the Most Pleasure Out of Social Life." The program also included a special lunch for the guests, including the speakers and the invited high school students of the county and near-by towns. In the afternoon there was a faculty high school basketball game. That night the conference closed with a dance and reception sponsored by the Student P. T. A.

This year the S. P. T. A. is assisting the council, the social work, music, and the newly organized high school library. From a games benefit given early in the fall $40.00 was given to the library for books which were placed on the library shelves immediately after the Christmas holidays. The membership has grown to 101 paid members this year.

T. J. MITCHELL

AN APPRECIATION

THE DOE-WAH-JACK Staff, the other students and the faculty of Burlington High School wish to express their gratitude for the kindly assistance rendered by the business and professional men and women of our city who have aided us so generously, as evidenced by the following pages. Without your financial cooperation, the printing of our school annual would have been impossible.

We sincerely thank you.

THE STUDENTS OF B. H. S.

Foolish, good, or bad,
Pretty, ugly, happy or sad—
Such are the students of B. H. S.
Some will study—some just won't;
Some like grade cards—others don't;
Some are athletic, gay and snappy,
To star awhile makes them happy.
Hanging 'round, looking swell
Suits others just as well.
Some are industrious—others lazy;
Some are gifted—others plain crazy!
The Sophomores wise—Juniors flighty,
Seniors—oh, so high and mighty—
Such are the students of B. H. S.

To High School Graduates

Whatever you plan to do after graduation—whether you plan for college or business—your mental development must continue.

The National Business College is a distinctive, private school of professional grade.
Day and evening courses prepare high school graduates for immediate earnings. Many graduates who have acquired experience are now presidents, vice-presidents, cashiers, secretaries, treasurers and controllers of large corporations—others are in successful accountancy practice.

The selection of a commercial school for your business training is of vital importance to you. Write for beautifully illustrated catalog.

Dear S. Lylack,

I hear that you are happily married to Helen Rhodes. I bet you surely do get tired of listening to her giggles. I heard she was gittin' tired of you too. Well you know there's always Reno. But I guess maybe you wouldn't resort to such methods. How is Mr. Ewens still gittin' along. I'm still painting signs. I hear Warriner's trying to sell shoes and is engaged to Julia Ellen or some niger. Well I'd better leave now. So long
Yours truly,
A. D. Cobb

Dear Butch,

I have enjoyed being in school with you since the 1st grade (I think) and am very sorry we can't graduate together (when + if we do) but you are going away.

Always remember the Picnic and our future Club-meetings (Sueing - High). Ha! Ha!
Here's wishing you much success in life (with Mary Jo.)

Dear James,

I really don't know what to say, but here goes: I think you are a swell boy + a grand classmate. I like you very much + I hope we can always be real good friends!!

I hope that success and happiness will be with you always. Remember me always, please!!!!!!

"Love,"

Dear James,

This seems like a small space to write in, but when I start writing I can't think of anything to say that will fill this space. All that I can say is this. I think that you are a real cute boy. I hope that success will always be with you throughout your life. Remember me as a friend, and a classmate.

"Love"
Margaret

Dear James, wish
I want to wish you all the best in the world! except what I need.
You are a little stubborn at times but otherwise a swell fellow. I haven't any room to talk. Always stay as nice as you are and you'll be O.K. Remember me and the swell times we've had together. Hope to see you lots more.
Love Martha

Dear Butch,
(Remember when I used to call you Sonny?)

Butch, you are a swell boy & I like you lots! May I say that I've enjoyed knowing you and I hope you will be very happy at Woodberry-Farrest. But don't forget ^(them) ~~the~~ ^{misplaced} interests & your many friends here.

Don't forget to remember and don't remember to forget

"Sister" Ruth
